HORSES FOR FAIR

Special to The Tribune.

OGDEN, Aug. 30.—Whether or not the coming fair, which begins at Ogden next Monday, will excel previous ones in all its departments, as its promoters feel confident will be the case, one thing is assured—the racing feature will be the best ever had at any fair in the intermountain region. There will be more horses and a better all-around class of horses at hand for it than ever before, as practically all the good ones that raced at Butte were among the big counsignment which came from Anaconda, something like seventeen carloads. Every stall at the fair grounds is now taken and eighty additional stalls are being built to accommodate the horses which are to come from Reno and other points. Special to The Tribune.

TO BACK HIS TEAM

The Salt Lake basebail team returned Monday from its trip south and the boys sald that they had been rebled by the umpire in the game at Heber by a score of 4 to 3. Catcher Scott sald that the umpire walked five men straight, which put two runs over the plate and gave the farmers a lend in the game. When Manager Margetts, who did not accompany the team, was informed of the treatment the boys had received at Heber he sald that he would back the team for $100 against Heber for a match game to be played at any time. Payson also lays chain to the state title, and Margetts says that the side bet also goes with the Paysonites, the game to be played on Labor day, either here or in Payson.

SIX GAMES ARE LOST BY FORFEIT CLAUSE

Nearing Finals for the Championships.

Several interesting tennis semi-finals in the men's singles for the intermountain championship were played at IS IN ITS INFANCY the Country club's courts Monday afternoon, notwithstanding the fact that six of the games scheduled to be played were forfeited by players that games.

Carr Neel had little difficulty in disposing of Sinton in straight sets, winning by 6-1; 6-2. from persons not before interested in aviation.

This alone proves how powerful the imagination has been affected.

Manufacturers believe sportsmen of every country will now begin to buy aeroplanes, particularly as the number of actual flights during the week, estimated at over 1300, were without a single fatal accident. This demonstrates that flying is no more dangerous than was automobiling in its early stages. The cost of the different machines ranges from $2000 to $5000.
